

Intercultural Communication Skills - Basics "Fit for Studying in Germany"

In this seminar, you deepen your knowledge about Germany and the Germans and also do some self-reflection on ways in which you may encounter intercultural differences in university life.

You enhance your understanding for interculturally challenging communicative situations with professors, fellow students and advisors. Together, we develop strategies to master these situations competently and successfully. You also familiarize yourself with tools to deal with “culture blues” or the infamous “culture shock”.

This workshop can be booked on three different dates. The workshop will be conducted in English.
